The securities within the Fund primarily will be in listed in developed markets and from time to time in emerging markets, and will include common stocks, convertible bonds and up to 5% of the Fund's assets in warrants.

The Fund may use financial derivative instruments (instruments for which the price is dependent on one or more underlying asset, 'FDI') extensively. This can be to achieve the investment objective, to hedge a given investment or to hedge against anticipated movements in a market or other sector or to manage the portfolio more efficiently. FDI may enable the Fund to obtain market exposure in excess of the value of the Fund's assets. The Fund may be leveraged up to 10% of its assets through FDI. The use of FDI may multiply the gains or losses made by the Fund on a given investment or on its investments generally.

Exchange traded funds (ETFs): The risks of owning shares in an ETF reflects the risks of owning the underlying securities that the ETF is designed to track. The value of the ETF could go up or down more that the underlying securities depending on market demand for the ETF.
